

Evening Programs May Replace Day Assemblies

THERE WILL BE FEWER regular assemblies at NWMSC in the future with major programs in the evening taking their place, the assembly committee decided Monday, Feb. 22.

Complaints concerning the great amount of time taken from regular classroom work by daytime assemblies as well as the raised cost of entertainment and speakers influenced the decision.

Also favored was an increase in the number of departmental guests to speak only in classes.

SPECIFIC PROGRAMS FOR next year will be selected during future committee meetings. The Air Force Band and the Singing Sergeants have been signed for October 12, however.

Student members of the committee are: Luann Timmerman, Kay Hawkins, Gaye Laughery, Carl Nielson, Bill Sutter, Don Ellis, Bill Price, and Don Kixmiller.

As Opportunities Increase

Teaching Salaries Up

By Donna Lynch
Missourian Staff Writer

AN INCREASE OF $150 TO $200, A 5% RAISE OVER THE present wage scale, can be expected for teacher's salaries this coming year.

This is a portion of the information available to graduating seniors compiled by Mr. Everett Brown, NWMSC field service director.

Additional fringe benefits are also on the rise, he said. This includes remuneration for sponsorship and special services, allowance for dependents, extended sick leave with pay, medical insurance and moving expenses.

AVAILABLE FIGURES also show a sharp increase in the number of job openings, especially in the intermediate grade level where a great demand for male teachers is noted. This rise is expected to continue until approximately 1965, Mr. Brown indicated. Several factors will influence the trend at that time.

Included are the number of students taking teacher training, teachers re-entering the profession, the raised entrance requirements and the creation of new fields such as vocational guidance, additional language courses, additional and gifted or retarded student classes.

A POPULATION RISE along the east and west coasts has created an increased demand for teachers from the mid-west area. The city of Baltimore alone will require 1,000 additional teachers next year, the field service director observed.

Over 6,500 requests for teachers were received by the field service office during the 1958-59 period, of which 332 were filled. One hundred seventy-seven took positions in Missouri while 153 accepted out-of-state jobs.

Of the 299 NWMSC graduates in 1959, 216 were placed in teaching positions.

Publications Fraternity To Organize March 3

GAMMA UPSILON, HONORARY student publications fraternity, will hold an organizational meeting, Thursday, March 3, in the Missourian office at 7:00 p.m.

Business of the meeting will be to prepare a petition to be presented to the student senate.

Students with two semester's experience on college publications in any capacity are eligible. Included are those who have worked on either the Missourian or the Tower, or transfer students with experience on other campus publications.

Tower, Greek Dances Fill This, Next Friday

IT'LL COST A MINIMUM OF $4.00 TO STAY SOCIALLY active during the next two weeks.

That's the combined tab for two of the year's big social events; the All Greek dance, to be held this Friday, March 4, and the Tower dance, coming up March 11.

Tickets for the All Greek affair featuring the Jim Markey band of Kansas City are now on sale for $1.00 per couple.

THREE DOLLARS PER couple has been set as admission for the annual Tower Dance by the central party committee of the union board last week.

The semi-formal ball will be held in the new gymnasium, Friday, March 11, from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Election of the Tower Queen by the student body will be held that afternoon. She will be crowned during the dance.

ANNOUNCEMENT OF THE yearbook dedication to a member of the faculty selected by the Tower staff will be made at that time.

Decorations for the affair are being arranged by a special union board committee, Bobbie Walker, chairman.

Sponsored by the Panhellenic and Intrafraternity councils, arrangements for the All Greek affair are being coordinated by a TKE Committee, Larry Brown, chairman.

Other committees are: Bandstand and reception of guests, Phi Sig, Don Anderson, chairman; tickets and finance, Sig Tau, Bob Chadwick, chairman; decorations, Alpha Sigma, Ann Porter, chairman; concession, refreshments and clean-up, Margaret Neiby, chairman; invitations and reception of guests, Delilah Duckworth, chairman.

A, B, C, D, F System To Be Used Soon

The A, B, C, D, F, grading system will be used here beginning with the first semester of 1960, according to Dr. Charles E. Koerble, dean of students.

The change will line up the NWMSC grading method with that of other institutions in this area, he said.

Book Room Hours Set

The textbook room will be open from one to three o'clock weekdays, according to Mr. Johnson, college librarian. This is a change from last semester when it was open in the morning.

First Local Bridge Tournament Brings Many Participants

TWELVE COUPLES PARTICIPATED IN THE NWMSC section of the 1960 National Intercollegiate Bridge Tournament, Feb. 22, the first to be held on this campus.

Although the official scoring is to be done on a national level, preliminary results indicated that North-South first place winners were Judy Slusher and Wanda Stadler while Judy Klam and Carolina Debow took East-West honors.

Other North-South winners were: Connie Robey and John Duggins, 2nd place; Larry Benner and Charles McCoy, 3rd place; Danny Bissell and Barbara Allen, 4th place; Bill Hund and Danny Twaddle, 5th place; Bill Joyner and Hugh Hadden, 6th place.

East-West winners were: Charles Rossman and Dale Cooper, 2nd place; Maurice Shier and Ray Rouse, 3rd place; Jeanie Thompson and Delores Polsy, 4th place; Jim Marley and Chuck Stadler, 5th place; Tony Martin and Jack Kimey, 6th place.

NEARLY 125 COLLEGES AND UNIVERSITIES, MEMBERS of the Contract Bridge League, participated in the tournament. Mr. William D. Scott, of the University of Mass., will do the scoring on the national level.

Mrs. W. C. Downs, of St. Joseph, directed the local tournament with Dale Cooper acting as assistant.

The great amount of enthusiasm shown gave rise to the possible organization of a Duplicate Bridge Club on this campus soon.

ALL THAT JAZZ

Duh, An' Like Dat

WE WERE LOOKING OVER THE DEAN'S LIST THE other day when a hot, musky odor smelling suspiciously like a gym locker began to seep in.

Turning around we found ourselves staring into a faded sweatshirt supported by a rather broad pair of shoulders and topped with something that could only be called a skull.

"Duh," said the skull. "What's dat?"

"This," we said, carefully counting syllables, "is the Dean's List. It tells the people who received — that's got — good grades last semester. The asterisks (the funny looking stars) mean the people got all E's."

"Ya mean da grinds?"

"Grinds?" we asked.

"Yah, da grinds," the skull repeated, a look of pity in its eyes. "You know, da guys what studies, an' like dat."

"Maybe that's why they're in college — to study."

The look of pity changed into something more like stark terror.

"Hey, you must be one of THEM. I think I hear my coach calling. I gotta go."

He went. And we began putting together a few thoughts destined for these pages.

FOR INSTANCE, DID YOU KNOW THAT THERE'S ONE word familiar to all Americans that can't be translated into any other language — even English? It's "egghead".

The attitude that created this word is also foreign to any other nationality; the feeling that the intellectual, the "longhair", the "professor", is an oddball.

So, we'd like to pose a question: Why, in a country that measures its greatness in technical advances, do the people look down their combined nose at those who try to keep that greatness growing?

WE'RE LAZY, KIDDIES. WE'VE GOTTEN TOO MUCH for too little. Our country right now looks like a fat man that just ate a large meal — all he wants to do is lie down and sleep.

The general attitude today seems to be: "Why should I work for a living? My father did that and look what it got him — a bald head and flat feet. I'm going to get a snap job with a lot of dough and just enjoy life."

The people who do have ambition, not because they just want another TV, but because they actually enjoy what they're doing, are called squares. If they don't pad the expense account or cop out when the boss isn't looking — well, they must be from another planet.

ONE OF THE GREATEST DISCOVERIES OF THE PAST years is that there is still so much left to discover — new frontiers for the space age Marco Polo.

But it's so much work. It means studying in school — learning things that won't create popularity at the next beer bust or win a date with the campus catch. The dividends aren't immediate and who plans for the future?

Well, there are other countries that seem to be looking ahead. And their recent scientific advances are definite proof.

SO THERE'S AN IDEA THAT MAY BE MORE RADICAL than original: Let's leave the "gristle-circuit" to the pros, the social life to the diplomats and turn our colleges back into institutions of learning as they should be.

It looks as though we may be beaten in the race for the moon — let's make sure it's the only contest of conquest we lose.

Okay, we'll put the soapbox away where it will remain for quite a spell and next week the sweeter side of our schizophrenic self can take over. But, to keep things in the same vein till the bitter end — think, and all that jazz.

QUESTION: What are your plans upon graduation from college?

Jerry Ferrell, Sophomore, Valley Falls, Kansas

"I would like to coach football or basketball in a high school somewhere out in the mountains of Colorado.

Any fishing that comes along will also be appreciated.

Oren Bates, Freshman, Garden City, Mo.

"So far I have not decided exactly what I plan to do when I graduate. It would be nice just to retire."

Gari "Junior" McLaughlin, Senior, Osceola, Ia.

"I plan to teach mathematics and physics in a large high school. I think that I will like the teaching field very much."

Susan Grube, Sophomore, Maryville, Mo.

"I would like to teach music either in an elementary school or a secondary school."

Myrle Porter, Senior, Jamesport, Mo.

"Upon graduation, I would like to teach vocational home economics in a high school somewhere close to home."

Phillis Nelson, Senior, Guilford, Mo.

"I would like to get married to a certain somebody and then start teaching vocational home economics."

Dale Cooper, Junior, Jamesport, Mo.

"I would like to go over to Europe again while working for some private corporation and live the life of Riley."

Jackie Schrooten, Sophomore, Sioux City, Ia.

"I plan to teach somewhere in the Midwest, either Iowa or Nebraska. I would like to teach either the fifth or sixth grades as I enjoy children of that age."

SADIE HAWKINS WEEK HAS LEFT THE STROLLER IN a complete state of exhaustion — but it seems to be due more to the lack of a mad rush than an excess of it.

Since the sex of The Stroller had been undetermined in the past, she (or he) didn't know if he (or she) should chase or be chased. It was finally decided that a good chaser could be the only solution, so The Stroller was declared eligible for all comers.

So, with the decision made, The Stroller prepared himself for the gals to charge. But nothing happened. Not being trampled under by the flying feet of local Daisy Maes, The Stroller decided in desperation to pick his own companion and find out why the gals were not doing their duty.

SINCE THE STROLLER found that the girls' activity was either non-existent or only half-hearted at the most, he decided that if the males in the area were as lackadaisical in their amorous conquests as the gals, Cupid would soon be out of business on this campus and local ministers would have to depend on funeral rather than wedding fees.

To quote one student, "The girls are about as energetic as Dr. Surrey's puns are funny."

There were a few notable exceptions, however, such as Toni and Pam who traversed the blowing snow to walk their dates home and ended up with frostbite of the toes. Perhaps the snow was one reason for the failure of Sadie Hawkins Week, but The Stroller hopes the girls will become a little more aggressive in the future.

"SNOW" SEEMS TO HAVE become a dirty word around here, so The Stroller prefers to talk about the coming of Spring and poses this question: "Aren't the Bush-hogs out a little early this year?"

And now The Stroller must rush for she has to tidy up and enter the Tower Queen contest.

Nads Capture League First

THE MEN'S INTRAMURAL basketball league was brought to a close last Thursday afternoon with the Phi Lambda Chi "Nads" reigning as the new champions.

The Phi Sig "Hawkeyes" took second place, losing only to the champions. Another Phi Sig team, the "Honkers" took third place honors.

The members of the championship team are: J. R. McLaughlin, Stewart Cline, Ronald Ives, Jack Boyd, Kendall Adams, Maurice Fulton, Jim Kloewer, and Glen Brooke.

NWMS raised a few eyebrows around the MIAA circuit this season with both spirit and hustle taking a portion of the credit.

Twice the experts picked M'ville teams as league cellar-dwellers and twice the 'Cats proved them wrong.

A 3-win, 3-loss, 2-tie record for Coach Paul Turner's grid crew proved to be the first selection upset while the roundballers under Coach Marion Moss turned in a 5-5 tally for conference play, again surprising the pros. Only a lack of depth kept the locals out of a top basketball slot.

Many area sportswriters like to compare the MIAA conference with that of MCAU. This writer has had an opportunity to view games in both leagues and would be much tempted to back even last place Warrensburg if they were pitted against Westminster, MCAU champion.

Judging from the size of the crowd at the recent swim meet with Wentworth Military Academy, interest in swimming at NWMS is proving to be greater than expected by athletic department officials. A little better backing in the future may turn the tank team into a major attraction for local athletes. Look what happened to wrestling.

With the area sports scene about to don its spring uniform, Coach Frank Grube's tennis crew has already begun its practice, making use of the indoor court in the new gym. Only much needed adequate lighting seems to be impairing their progress.

While it may not be possible to install lights this season, the addition would be a great help to the Bearcat netmen in the future.

Not only would it produce better practice sessions, a fully equipped court could keep the opposition's Maryville trips from being just a joyride during the rainy season.

DeVore Honored

DR. ELWYN K. DeVORE, professor of business at NWMS has been awarded membership in Beta Gamma Sigma, an honorary scholastic fraternity and the highest honor bestowed upon Indiana University business student.

He received his doctor's degree in September, 1959, from that university.

Reds Forfeit to White Sox in Opener

Women's Intramural Basketball Opened

THE GIRL'S INTRAMURAL program got underway in the basketball division Wednesday, February 24, as the White Sox took a forfeit from the Fourth Floor Reds.

Two roundball meets will be held each Monday and Tuesday night until March 7. Due to the uncertain condition of the gyms, only one game each night is planned after that date unless construction work is completed. A full schedule of four games a night, two in each gym at 4:00 and 5:00 p.m. is planned as soon as conditions permit.

A round robin girls' bowling tournament with seven teams competing began Feb. 11 at the Nodaway Lanes and will continue each Thursday night.

Lincoln Downs Local Swimmers

A SEASONED LINCOLN, Nebraska, proved too strong for Coach Bensusan's young NWMS swimming team in a dual meet Friday, February 19, dunking them by a 56-48 margin at Lincoln.

Although the Bearcat squad showed much improvement over the crew that had lost an earlier 78-17 decision to the Huskers, the tankmen, unable to eke out a single first during the meet, received second place in every event.

Participating in the meet were: Bill Schultz, Bob McCoy, Larry Karsten, Bob Willis, and Gary Karsten.

During the three and one half hour meeting, discussion groups will be formed under the guidance of Ray Fore, president, John Dewey chapter, SNEA. A business session will also be held.
